Student Loans Company Funded Students

If you have been granted a postgraduate loan from the Student Loans Company, you must progress at an appropriate pace to complete within two years. Arden University is required to make annual reports to the Student Loans Company regarding your progress. If you fall behind, or if you decide you would prefer to study at a slower pace, you may transfer to the Flexible Distance Learning route (see below). However, if you transfer to the more flexible route, you will not be eligible for any continued loan payments from the Student Loans Company.

Flexible Distance Learning Students

If you have chosen the flexible distance learning route and have not received a postgraduate loan from the Student Loans Company, you have the flexibility to plan your own pace of study. Postgraduate degrees usually take around two to three years to complete depending on how many modules you study each year. In order to achieve this, it is recommended that you aim to complete at least 60 credits each year, equivalent to three 20-credit modules. You will have a maximum of five years to complete the programme (from the date you first started).

Arden University Assessment Regulations

Students will be assessed in accordance with the standard Arden University assessment regulations which can be found on the Arden University website <http://arden.ac.uk/>

10. Programme Aims

The aim of the Arden University MBA (Finance) programme is to provide a distinctive, interdisciplinary and integrative educational programme for individuals seeking to develop and consolidate their managerial achievements. In addition to this interdisciplinary approach, finance centric modules have been included. The programme is designed to expose programme participants to current thinking and practice across a wide range of management and finance disciplines, delivered using a cross-cutting approach. A higher level of criticality is expected across the Masters programmes and this will allow students to consider more deeply the various functions of management.

Online teaching materials are derived from established academic research in order to develop critical powers of analysis, reflection and the further development of interpersonal skills in preparation for key positions in industry, commerce and the public sector.

Programme participants will build on their existing understanding of management and organisations within a framework that enables them to relate their experience to contemporary ideas and practice within a global context. This is achieved through critical thinking, creativity and personal development.

In particular, the purpose of the programme is to provide participants with:

- A critical and detailed understanding of the role of ethical and innovative management within organisations.
- A critical and detailed understanding of the role of finance management within organisations.
- A critical understanding of the management of management within a global context.
- The opportunity to create and take ownership of a detailed piece of research to a financial management issue.
- A critical understanding of issues pertaining to finance, sustainability and business ethics.
- An ability to critically analyse and apply knowledge of management theory and models to complex issues (including data analytics), both systematically and creatively, to improve ethical business and management practices.

- A stimulating online academic environment, which is based upon the values of academic openness and critical appraisal.

13. Learning and teaching methods and strategies

Distance Learning

Acquisition of programme outcomes is via engagement with the online module learning material and the online tutoring and programme participant support mechanisms, both of which are delivered via Arden University's ilearn platform (a moodle-based system). The learning material comprises purpose-written self-contained lessons with frequent activities and feedback to generate learning and reinforce the knowledge acquisition through frequent application of learning to specific examples.

Embedded within the text are links to further reading and appropriate websites. Feedback within the learning material is provided to allow programme participants to check their understanding with that of the tutor. Additionally, group learning activities direct programme participants to the tutor-facilitated discussion forums where they engage in discussion with their peers and receive formative feedback from the module tutor.

Each of the 20 credit modules provide programme participants with an understanding of key theoretical and practical management issues, debates and academic informed literatures.

Teaching/learning methods adopted are transferrable across modules and are similar across modules and include online class discussions, exercises/case studies and group discussions.

For each subject being taught, a programme of structured online learning activities using both formative and summative assessment is applied. The emphasis is on action learning through the mediation of the module leader for each module.

Learning and Teaching activities are:

Asynchronous

Independent and directed student study, supported throughout by comprehensive online multi-media teaching materials and resources accessed through our Virtual Learning Environment

Guided group / project based work

Research tasks

Discussion forums where students discuss and critically engage with themes emerging from the online materials they engage with, following the posing of questions or propositions, case studies or similar by either tutor or students themselves

Podcasts and narrated PowerPoints

Synchronous

Online seminars facilitated by VOIP's (voice over internet protocol) where theory and practice are integrated

Live chats

Based upon the profile of our typical student body, our strategy enables students to engage with a variety of learning tools that best meet their learning styles, overall objectives and personal circumstances. Independent study is the cornerstone of the learner experience, supported by subject specialist engagement with the tutor and peer engagement.

Blended Learning

A strategy which incorporates elements from the above criteria plus the support of face to face input will be utilised.

Asynchronous learning will be supported by in class face to face lectures, seminars and workshops. Students will have full access to the ilearn platform and all programme resources within it. Formative opportunities will be available in class and also via 'Adobe' hosted seminars.

Students will also have access to learning resources at each partner institution.

Student leaning will be supported and nurtured at our partner institutions by our tutor team and dedicated centre administrator and online via our student support team.

Summative submissions will all be made via the 'Turn it In' platform.

14. Assessment methods and strategies

The assessment process involves both formative and summative elements and is continuing in nature.

There will be a focus on encouraging students to apply their knowledge to practical situations. A significant part of this comes from the Dissertation module. Here students will be required to identify a topic of interest to them, which falls within the encompassing field of management. Students will explore this, and will apply their research to the topic, putting forward recommendations which are of practical benefit to the organisation.

The approach to coursework assignments will be to encourage students to apply their knowledge to organisations or data sets. This could be achieved through the use of case studies, but will also involve employees applying information and approaches to their own organisations, or an organisation with which they are familiar.

The assessment designed for each module reflects the intentions of that module and will measure the identified learning outcomes. A variety of assessment strategies will be used to reflect and test the achievement of the learning outcomes. These are detailed within each module and mapped in the table below. Assessment questions and cases are seen to be dynamic and are reviewed quarterly in order to maintain rigour and reflect changes in professional focus and practice.

There is a requirement for written work including reports, essays, developed plans, portfolios of work etc. and our assessment policy informs how feedback is supplied by tutors at the formative and summative assessment stages. Critical analysis is encouraged culminating in a Dissertation.

15. Employability

Entrants to this programme are highly likely to be in work, (be it full or part time). The MBA programme is designed to offer the degree of flexibility required to ensure that even those employed in full time positions have the maximum opportunity to fulfil their programme of study. The programme aims to develop skills, behaviours and knowledge such that graduates can confidently enter the business environment or can improve their existing career prospects within it. The degree develops a range of transferrable skills and provides opportunities for these to be evidenced. In particular the final dissertation provides the ability to demonstrate higher level academic skills. Arden values are embedded within the programme as a whole and these values will be instilled in students as they progress through their studies, thus ensuring that graduating students are fully equipped with highly current, appropriate and ethically sound knowledge, procedures and processes.

The distributed nature of Arden University student's makes conventional careers support difficult but the use of the 'Abintegro provider' allows us to offer a range of support in career development and there are opportunities for students to purchase more specialist support if required.

The addition of embedded graduate attributes adds value to the qualification in terms of providing 'industry ready' graduating students.

16. Entry Requirements

Arden University is keen to ensure that the programme is available to all those who can benefit from it.

Normally entry is via:

A degree equivalent to UK second class honours standard, plus a minimum of two years' work experience.

English ability equivalent to IELTS 6.5 (no less than 6.0 in any element), where the medium of undergraduate study was not English;

Applicants with existing postgraduate business awards may be eligible for entry with advanced standing and will be considered through the APL process.

Applicants who have substantial managerial experience (typically 5 years) and are able to demonstrate via references and supporting curriculum vitae an ability to successfully complete the programme may be admitted where they do not possess degree equivalent qualifications. It is not intended to offer exemptions based on experiential learning.
